UQ-INDONESIA RELATIONSHIP

The University of Queensland is proud of the deep relationships we have established with Indonesian institutions, academics and students. UQ's engagement with our Indonesian partners continues to grow from strength to strength, with academic collaboration with Indonesian partners at the forefront in building UQ's reputation and profile in Indonesia. UQ's commitment to Indonesia and our Indonesian partnerships is further highlighted by our annual Senior Executive Mission to Indonesia and our UQ Indonesia Partnership Awards which were first introduced in 2010.

Global reputation

UQ continues to be ranked as one of the top 50 universities in the world by the QS World University Rankings and within the top 100 by the Times Higher Education World University Rankings. It is also ranked among the top 10 universities in the Asia Pacific, and the top 100 worldwide, by the Academic Rankings of World Universities study conducted by Shanghai Jiao Tong University. As a founding member of the Group of Eight and one of only three Australian members of Universitas 21, UQ prides itself on its longstanding reputation for quality and excellence and is at the forefront of tertiary education.

Research at UQ

UQ is one of the top three research universities in Australia. Its existing research strengths have evolved into eight internationally significant, interdisciplinary research institutes - many of which offer study opportunities for students.

By combining modern infrastructure with a culture that champions research excellence, UQ's institutes have attracted a community of more than 1,500 scientists, social scientists and engineers from Australia and around the world.

UQ is an ideal choice for your research base in Australia because:

- UQ has more specialised fields of research 'well above world standard' than any other Australian university, according to the 2012 Excellence in Research for Australia assessment.
- UQ is the most successful university in Australia for the commercialisation of research with more staff dedicated to research commercialisation than any other Australian university.
- PhD and MPhil candidates have the opportunity to work with researchers of international renown.

UQ-Indonesian Alumni

UQ's academic environment has been complimented with a significant Indonesian cohort for over 50 years. Many of these students were supported by Indonesian and Australian government funding. Our Indonesian alumni have attained leadership positions across Indonesian government, corporate and non-government organisations and include some of our University's most enthusiastic ambassadors.
