Learn from Australia’s leading business, economics, tourism or law experts, and undertake a professional internship at an organisation, located in Australia, that is tailored to your skills and career objectives.

ANDREA MORALES CANRO, Colombia
MASTER OF COMMERCE
INTERN AT BANK OF QUEENSLAND
My internship experience in Australia was crucial for my professional development. At the end of the Internship I was offered a 7 month contract with the company.

KENJI IRIKURA, Peru
MASTER OF BUSINESS (ENTREPRENEURSHIP), INTERNSHIP PARTICIPANT 2012

The program provides an exceptional opportunity to gain an internationally recognised qualification from UQ enhanced by professional industry training. You will be placed in a company where you will network and learn from professionals, gaining vital skills and knowledge as well as inspiration for your future.

Our Latin American students have benefited significantly from internships with multinationals in the business, finance, legal and resource sectors; government agencies; global NGOs, and Australian industry leaders.

Internship benefits
• Improve career opportunities
• Professional and personal growth
• CV Internationalisation
• Gain recognition and develop professional networks within your chosen field
• Enhance interpersonal communication and cross-cultural skills
• Apply classroom knowledge to real world projects
• Improve business communication skills
• Develop an appreciation of the Australian workplace culture

Who is eligible?
Professional internships are being offered as a scholarship opportunity for citizens of a Latin American country (who normally reside in that country), who have applied to UQ and who intend to accept their offer for a relevant postgraduate Faculty of Business, Economics and Law Masters program. The internships are for a minimum of four weeks up to a maximum of twelve weeks duration, and the Masters program must be a minimum of 1.5 years. Please note that the internship will be unpaid and non-credit bearing towards your UQ studies.

ANDRES DOMINGUEZ HERNANDEZ, Ecuador
Master of Technology & Innovation Management, Intern at CSIRO

“ My experience in CSIRO was amazing, I can’t tell you how much I’ve learnt here. My work in the business development area is very interesting and I got to meet a lot of people with different backgrounds (technical, business, IP management, scientists, etc). I have been treated as a formal employee, and was given access to a lot of resources with my staff ID like online courses, the CSIRO library, staff assistance, etc. I also did a field trip to the feedlots in Toowoomba, which I enjoyed very much.”

INES VALENZUELA, Peru
Master of International Hotel & Tourism Management, Intern at Tourism Fraser Coast

“Throughout my internship I conducted surveys and worked on a report on the backpacking market of the region, developed and posted content on social media channels, photographed events and activities, translated media releases into Spanish, researched event opportunities, and prepared summaries of projects/reports for different uses. The internship and the whole experience has exceeded all my expectations. They were friendly, helpful and interested in me getting the most out of the experience, and also made sure I had a lot of fun.”

RUBEN FAUNDEZ, Chile
Master of Business Economics Intern at THG

“ I chose Australia because it is a well-positioned country, with recognized high standard universities. I chose Queensland as a destination because I have extraordinary references of the region (I mean, tropical weather, easy going people, livable and safe cities), and UQ because it is the most prestigious university in the state. My Internship was done in THG (a small size architectural design, mapping and surveyors firm). It was valuable interacting with almost all the workers of the company and have the chance to review and receive the feedback from the directors of the company. For me the experience was worthwhile.”
Going to a university in the world's top 100 has its advantages.

Our teachers have won more national awards than any other Australian university, we offer world-class learning environments and high-quality programs, and our research is helping solve some of the world's toughest problems.

UQ's St Lucia Campus provides a perfect study, research and living environment and is located in Brisbane, a renowned city for its enjoyable climate and its multicultural and safe environment. Imagine the difference having access to all of this could make to you.

YOUR UQ. YOUR ADVANTAGE.
